DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Claim 7 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from another multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claim 7 has not been further treated on the merits.
2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it employs the term "invention" in lines 1 and 8. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-3 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. With regard to claim 1, the applicant employs the term "point code number" in line 7. It is not clear as to what the "point code number" represents.

With regard to claim 8, the applicant employs the term "point code number" in line 4-5. It is not clear as to what the "point code number" represents and what distinguishes it from the destination address.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1-3 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Christie et al (5,926,482). With regard to claim 1, Christie et al discloses a signaling data link 100, level 1, (listening/receiving) (column 4, lines 63-64). Christie et al further discloses a routing label (table) that contains a destination point code (DPC) and origination point code (OPC) (distant point code) that identify signaling points in the network (column 7, lines 9-14). Christie et al further discloses a point code conversion unit 500 between level 2 and level 3 that translates (updating) data such as the DPC, OPC and circuit identification code (CIC) (column 8, lines 28).

With regard to claim 2, Christie et al discloses a signaling message handling 310 which ensures that messages are delivered to the proper destination (configuring a primary route) according to the routing label (column 6, line 67 – column 7, line 3).

With regard to claim 3, Christie et al discloses a discrimination 312 that determiners (signaling route set test) if a particular signaling point is the destination of the message (column 7, lines 30-37).

With regard to claim 8, Christie et al further discloses a routing label (message) that contains a DPC (destination address) and OPC that identify signaling points in the network (column 7, lines 9-14). MTP level 2 alignment is inherent for communication to occur.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 4-6 are allowed.
